I tried to erase the records of this game, but some evidence of the first five turns couldn't be erased. I doubt it's re-constructible by anyone other than me, anyway. If I want to reconstruct it, the only part of the rules I tend to forget is: ""Starting with the Banker, each player in turn throws the dice. The player with the highest total starts the play. ... After he has completed his play, the turn to play passes to the left." Oh, and what kind of true Monopoly players would ever use a speed die? It's all about two dice.

			Why did the players agree to buy everything in this game? Auctions can be good deals.

It seems that only notes from 2 of the players are still around.
