

Double Down On Home Development

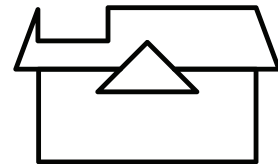

1 Legally Blonde Character First Names

In this essay I will prove that it is unrealistic and frankly insulting to imply that our heroine was only admitted to Harvard Law School because of her outward appearance. As a graduate from a prestigious business school with a 4.0 GPA, an impeccable resume of extracurricular involvement, and a near perfect LSAT score, Harvard Law School would have been foolish to deny her admission simply because of her bubbly personality and bold fashion choices.
